Market and Fund Review

The Fund returned +2.5% in October, taking the net return over the past 12 months to 28.4%.

Since inception, the Fund has returned 37.3% p.a. (after fees).

The Fund has achieved outstanding risk-adjusted returns (maximum drawdown 2.4%, sharpe ratio 4.2, sortino ratio 24.6).

In October, the ASX200 finally broke out of its narrow trading range, rallying 4%. Technology (+8.7%), Energy (+6.5%) and Consumer Discretionary (+6.2%) were the standout sectors, while defensive/yield sectors such as REITs (+2.2%), Telcos (+2.4%) and Banks (+2.8%) lagged. Globally, the most notable trend was the ongoing strength in U.S. technology stocks and global cyclicals, due to ongoing signs of economic strength across both the developed and emerging markets.

Some of the Fund's best performers in October were long positions in Bluescope Steel (+17%), Bank of America (+11%) and Peet Ltd (+20%). We aggressively increased our Bluescope Steel position after the shares sold off by 20% after announcing their full year result in August. As we mentioned in our August monthly report, we believe the sell-off was an overreaction to a temporary earnings issue, which was likely to reverse in the coming year. Bluescope shares have rallied more than 200% from our initial investment at around $4 in late 2015 and we continue to see further upside. While equities appear fully valued, we believe the market could be poised for a relatively strong period ahead, given rising M&A activity, along with large institutional investors looking to shift their asset allocation away from bonds (which are currently offering no real returns).

During the month, the Fund had 10 stocks that contributed more than 0.25% to performance, while only one position detracted more than 0.25%. Performance during 2017 has been very strong (+25.8%), with the Fund delivering positive returns in every month so far. The Fund's returns have continued to track well ahead of our investment objective and we remind clients to expect net returns closer to our 10% target over the long term.
